Society for Conservation Biology Europe Early Career Conservation Award 2024

Deadline for nominations 17 March 2024

The Society for Conservation Biology (SCB) is dedicated to facilitating, promoting, and advancing the scientific study and conservation of biological diversity. Recognizing the importance of dedicated individuals in achieving this, we are pleased to announce the SCB Europe Early Career Conservation Award 2024 to provide recognition for an early career conservationist to promote their work as exemplary conservation practice, whether this be through research, practical intervention, policy work or education, and inspire others to do similarly.

Eligibility:

Candidates must be early career conservation professionals, defined as within 6 years of the highest achieved full-time education (e.g., PhD, MSc., BSc.) attained prior to working as a conservation professional. Nominees must have been based in Europe during their career OR must have included European ecosystems in their work.

The awardee will be announced at the 7th European Congress of Conservation Biology \(ECCB\) in Bologna in June 2024 where the successful candidate will be encouraged to participate to receive their award. Registration fee for the attendance of ECCB will be covered by the SCB Europe Region.

Criteria for selection:

The successful applicant will have evidence of achievement in some aspect of conservation science and practice. This may be through research and its application to practical conservation problems, practical interventions, policy work and/or education.

Deadline for applications:

The online application form must be completed and submitted by 23:59 CET on 17 March 2024.

Response:

All applicants will be notified of the result by 01 May 2024.

Award:

The awardee will get a 3-year SCB Europe Region membership, a 500.- Euro honorarium, and free registration for the next ECCB 2024 in Bologna.

Enquiries:

Please direct any questions to europe@conbio.org or Laura Bosco (laura.bosco@helsinki.fi).
